Dear Sir

In regard to your letter of 17th I am quite at a loss to understand Mr. Wallace's reason for ascribing, without the least foundation that I am aware of, such a notice to me. These books and M.S. are entirely between myself and Mr. Mackenzie and if they choose to quarrel over them I have nothing at all to do with it, and Mr. Wallace

2. Knows this perfectly. I did suggest - to her when leading the cause to give the MacKenzie boys the Greek and Latin books, and was told they were "too valuable." Since then I interfered in no way;

It was simply absurd to ask you to explain to me about the M. I. & C. I was with my brother when he wrote these papers and knew their contents thoroughly, long before Mr. Wallace ever heard of their existence, and up till his death, he³ gave me every detail about them.

Since Mr. Wallace gives a sufficient reason for giving me all this annoyance I consider it best to cease all communication with him.

I am

Yours truly
J. W. Lee

Rev. John Maclean.
