Dear Edith,

I wrote the free translation on back hereof immediately I was told, but Manning says her letter was written before, & so the script was left.

This is Cecil's wedding day: a quiet affair, with only parties & witnesses in Newbank Church, Mr. Wright's. — Our Communion is on Sunday first at Dalarossie. Mr. Boyd, Gleunguhart is assisting. The priest & I visited Achadalan together yesterday. Martin passed driving test on Monday. All well, Daddy.

Fair my dear, my Highland laddie

That yuir my love ~~I~~ deny I'll never

When I was but a foolish lassie

I adored and loved the laddie

That doth bear the handsome figure,

I will never love another.

Meer is strim TE

2.

Finger deft with pen at writing,

Or to tune the tender harp-strings:

'Tis your songs would raise my mind when

I'd be weary, full of sorrow.

Tha do chafha TE

3.

Your gartered legs so straight and shapely

As cleaverin salmon from the skate-flood

It is true that I've you chosen

~~From~~ Out of all man-kind forecast.

Ach tha mair TE

4.

But the hope I fondly cherish

The day will come we're joined together:

If you are faithful to your promise,

I vow I'll never love another.
