On the body being exhumed and uncovered, found as follows. – The body undergoing a process of putrefaction, the Cornea of the Eye fallen in, and the Face Neck, Chest & Abdomen of a deep green color bloody froth issuing from the mouth. Externally the Head was of a natural appearance and without any marks of violence.

slightly enlarged, but otherwise healthy. On removing the [?C.....arium] we found situated between the Dura [?Mater] and Brain and at the junction of the Occipital bone with the two Parietal bones, an extravasation of blood extending from above downwards about an Inch and quarter ; and we are of opinion that this extravasation was the result of the rupture of a blood vessel - Having made a minute and careful examination of the whole body and its various parts, we are of opinion that death was caused by congestion of the membranes of the Brain arising from natural causes.
